

One tiny seed will provide shade for generations to come.

Planting a seed today will grow giving forever.

By establishing an endowment fund at an Iowa Community Foundation today, you are planting a seed that will grow over time, providing necessary resources for future generations.

You don't need a green thumb.

If you cultivate your community by giving a gift today of $25,000 and never add another cent to the fund (although, just think of what additional gifts could do), in 25 years you will have provided $46,172 in grants and the endowment will be valued at $69,257.* And you don't even have to worry about pulling the weeds.

Consider planting a seed.

There will always be a need for shade.
